They are held to the highest expectations and serve as a role model and representative for the club and University. The president is the first of two people authorized to sign paperwork for the club for any reason.

Treasurer

The club treasurer is responsible for the fiduciary side of the Taekwondo Club. All income and expenditures related to the club must be processed through the treasurer. The treasurer is the only other club member who is authorized to sign paperwork for the club for any reason.

Social Media Coordinator

The social media coordinator helps with promoting the club. This includes tasks such as maintaining and organizing social media platforms like Facebook and Instagram, while also promoting the club and events to the rest of campus. They also communicate with UVM Bored about events, help design posters when necessary, and assist in the overall promotion of the club.

Event Coordinator

The event coordinator helps plan monthly events (at least one event each month) for team bonding, as well as fundraisers. This includes organizing rides, hosts, food, and anything else necessary for the event. In the past, the club has done hikes, Get Air trips, game/movie nights etc. They plan at least one fundraiser per semester, such as holding a boba night or selling cookies and brownies.

Master Instructors may also serve in an advisory capacity to the Executive Committee regarding the duties and expectations of their roles as needed. The club advisor is currently Dr. Adam Shafritz.

Other Officers

Other officers (Vice president, Team Manager, Fundraising head, etc.) are appointed by the club president and serve at their discretion. Taekwondo History/Facts/Information

A brief history of Taekwondo:

Taekwondo is a Korean unarmed martial art and currently one of the most widely practiced in the world. The Kukkiwon World Taekwondo Headquarters has registered 20 million black belt holders since its founding in 1972. However, the roots of Taekwondo can be traced back to post World War II in the modern era. There are a great many connections with older martial arts styles in Korea but these connections are not clearly defined. Taekwondo is not only kicking and punching, but also a way of living. Taekwondo is an international sport with many different competitions including a World Championship for Taekwondo forms. Taekwondo sparring is an Olympic sport with full medal status.

A brief history of the UVM Taekwondo Club:

- 1987 – Living and Learning Taekwondo program started by J.T Shields

The Multiple Components of UVM Taekwondo

The Flags:

We hang the flags in the dojang out of respect for the country where Taekwondo originated and to show respect to the country that we live in. The flags are hung so that when we stand between the flags facing the class, the U.S. flag is on our right, and the Korean flag is on our left. Pursuant to U.S. flag code, the U.S. flag should be hung in a position of superiority (higher and/or to the right) whenever it is displayed. To hang the flags in the vertical position, the Korean flag is simply turned 90 degrees clockwise. The U.S. flag is hung so that the stars remain in the upper left hand corner.

Symbolism of the flags:

The Korean flag (Taegukki) consists of a white background with a red/blue circle in the center and 4 trigrams in black on the corners.

The circle represents the concepts of Um and Yang and is called Taeguk. Um and Yang are similar to the Chinese concepts of Yin and Yang. These are opposites, such as light/dark, fire/water, and others, but also represent two sides of the same thing. The trigrams, moving clockwise from the upper left are: Heaven, Water, Earth, and Fire.

The U.S. flag consists of a blue background with 50 stars in the upper left hand corner and 13 stripes for the remainder of the flag. The 50 stars represent the 50 states, and the 13 stripes represent the 13 original colonies. The colors red, white, and blue also have significance. Red symbolizes courage, and the blood shed for freedom. White represents purity. Blue represents liberty and justice.

The flags should be treated with proper respect when putting them up and taking them down. At no time should the flag be allowed to make contact with the ground and the U.S flag should be folded properly.

Taekwondo Belt System:

White Belt – Signifies innocence, as that of a beginning student who has no previous knowledge of Taekwondo

Yellow Belt – Signifies the Earth from which a plant sprouts and takes root as the Taekwondo foundation is being laid

Green Belt – Signifies the plant's growth as the Taekwondo skills begin to develop

Blue Belt – Signifies the Heaven, toward which the plant matures into a towering tree as training in Taekwondo

Red Belt – Signifies danger, cautioning the student to exercise control and warning the opponent to stay away

Black Belt – Signifies the opposite of white, therefore, signifying the maturity and proficiency in Taekwondo

Taekwondo Poomsae:

Poomsae (forms/patterns) are an important part of Taekwondo practice. Forms demonstrate timing, balance, rhythm, and precision of technique. Poomsae practice and competition, while strenuous, does not carry the same level of injury potential as sparring. For the competitor, there are poomsae competitions up to the World Championship level. For those not interested in sparring competition, poomsae practice provides an opportunity for challenge and success measured by a concrete standard.

The UVM Taekwondo Club currently practices the Taegeuk series of forms, though instructors have been trained in ITF as well. Taegeuk forms are what we use in the majority of the competitions that we attend, and currently is the most standardized form series. We maintain links to the most up-to-date information on poomsae from the highest level sources. In addition, the club has nationally experienced and successful poomsae referees and competitors.

Taekwondo Sparring:

Kyorugi (sparring) is at the core of Taekwondo, and is a main distinction between other martial art styles. It consists of punches to the body as well as kicks to the body and head. In practice and competition sparring, a wide variety of padded safety equipment is worn, with the idea of using a more realistic level of power with strikes.

The UVM Taekwondo Club currently practices the WT style of competition Kyorugi. In class, we operate on a modified rule set, using the concept of “promise sparring.” Partners are allowed to mutually lower the contact threshold to a level commensurate with their experience and comfort level. Under no circumstances are students allowed to spar under full WT adult rules without instructor permission and direct supervision. We maintain links to the most up-to-date information on sparring. In addition, the club has nationally and internationally certified referees and coaches, as well as competitors.

Taekwondo Self-Defense:

At UVM Taekwondo, we teach a variety of concepts and techniques from different martial arts styles for purposes of self-defense, in addition to the methods for avoiding a dangerous situation. This eclectic blend of concepts, methods, and techniques speaks to what we hold as a core belief in effective self-defense.

Taekwondo Travel and Competition:

As you travel for Taekwondo competition, here are a few things to keep in mind:

- First and foremost, this is a University-sponsored activity. Please conduct yourself in a manner that promotes a positive image of the University in the larger community at all times.

- Second, this is a Taekwondo activity. While it is not a practice, the same standards of behavior hold in the competition environment. It's OK to compete hard and get excited, but at the same time be respectful of your teammates, other teams, and the coaches and staff.
- Third, all of the officials are volunteering their time for this event. While there are a number of very experienced referees, for some this is their first time judging. Expect that people will make mistakes. Respond from a place of understanding and kindness. We strive for the best quality event, but it is a learning event for all.
- Last, you may win, and you may lose. You may not get to finish your bracket due to time constraints. It's all good. It's very hard to not get frustrated when things don't work out as planned, especially after putting in lots of hard work. It's hard when you don't perform as you expected. Getting frustrated is OK, but be mindful of how you show that frustration. Instead, celebrate the little successes and let the little challenges and frustrations inspire you for training for the next event.
